

18 February 2012

Hello Patrick and welcome to the first newsletter of 2012.

I trust your Christmas season was happy and that you found time to spend with family and loved ones. I also understand some of you might have found the season a bit empty with some of our loved ones gone beyond the veil and in my heart I hope and pray you find some peace this year and understand they are only a whisper away. My own Christmas was wonderful with my sons spending the first Christmas lunch with me in 13 years, so good things do come to those who wait!

2012 will be another year of travelling around the country spreading the messages and love to those who need it. Helping hearts heal is my intention, I am the medium and the real healers your very own spirit people. We are travelling to most places we visited last year and have added more areas including Newcastle, Gosford, Canterbury Hurlstone Park and Canley Heights.

Spirit Matters

I have started to upload video blogs called Spirit Matters, which may help you deal with grief and life in general, which I upload to Facebook weekly. If you are not already a member of my Facebook page you can take a look at it here:

Room 4 Victoria Point Qld

As many of you know we now have a wonderful new room called Room 4. This year we are holding Boutique Shows, Meditation nights (first or second Thursday each month), Psychic development classes, Living with Spirit Workshops (dealing with grief, loss and reconnection) and Boot camps for the soul days. There is also the possibility of grief workshops for kids.

As readings become available we will release them via newsletter or on Facebook. I am releasing about 10 per month but it really is first in first served, as we no longer hold a waiting list.
